

GDG DevFest 2015 Season

First of all thank you for your interest in becoming a sponsor of the GDG DevFest Porto 2015!

Sponsoring the GDG DevFest Porto 2015 gives you the opportunity to brand your company and products as community friendly and is a great opportunity to meet with a lot of Google Technology enthusiasts on a high-level developer event.

There are nearly 700 Google Developer Groups (GDG) in over 100 countries organizing regular Google Tech events for their local community. Many of them once a year join hands in organizing a GDG DevFest. At these DevFests are gathered more than 40.000 attendees worldwide, providing the opportunity to learn about Google technology in a friendly environment. National and international speakers will take the group up to speed with the latest on Google technology and share their experiences in real life projects via talks and hands-on workshops.

The GDG DevFest Porto 2015 will be the second to be organized in Portugal, the first in Porto. It is a free, single day conference event that will offer lunch, coffee breaks and some goodies to 80 attendees and an awesome group of speakers.

As GDG Porto is a pro bono community of developers and not a legal organization with funds and a fiscal id, since the event will be free * we need some help to make all this possible.

So, for each sponsorship level we target one of our basic needs, and accordingly we mark it with some rewards for your generosity.

 We are studying with our partner Last2Ticket the viability of having each participant paying a symbolic amount to ensure they will really go and don't just occupy a slot. The money will be returned to them if they go to the event.*
